INNOVATOR”

Experience the future of real estate transactions TODAY

As an innovator in real estate technology, Stewart provides SureClose®, a paperless transaction management system, to increase productivity, improve communication among all transaction parties and enhance the customer’s experience.

Plug into your transactions anywhere, anytime

At-a-glance view of your transaction

Buyers, sellers, real estate professionals, escrow officers, title agents and lenders alike are able to view step-by-step transaction information from any Windows®-based PC with Internet capability — providing your customers a new level of service and peace of mind.

With SureClose, you and your customers will be able to review and approve documents before the closing date — at a time and place convenient for you.

Security features ensure that buyers and sellers see only the documents specific to them. SureClose operates via a password-protected Web site. And with ‘round-the-clock access, office hours and time zones are no longer factors for doing business. You’ll even receive automatic notifications when critical documents post to your SureClose file, keeping you abreast of your transaction’s progress at all times.

SureClose allows all parties involved in a transaction 24/7 online access to the documents that pertain to them.
